FOOD & BEVERAGE

‘Q’ It Up!

1916

Lexington-style barbecue pioneer, Sid Weaver, opened his tent-covered pit cooking operation on a street corner in Uptown Lexington.

1920's

Jesse Swicegood & Will Johnson established their barbecue pits near the original courthouse, popularizing “Lexington-style Barbecue” as a local industry & cuisine. The court judge knew when it was time to recess for lunch when they smelled the smoke rolling in the windows!

Today

Lexington’s 12 barbecue restaurants serve up to 500 or more hungry locals and tourists a day labeling Lexington, NC the “Barbecue Capital of the World”.

FOOD & BEVERAGE

Slow-roasted, pit-cooked pork shoulder served sliced or chopped with a drizzle of dip & red slaw.
